PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Brethren and Sisters of the Conference:

Under your direction I have traveled the conference during the past year. In some particulars the work has been the most arduous of any year in which I have served in this capacity. More vexatious problems and spiritual burdens have been my lot than were ever experienced in any previous year. Yet withal there has been the abounding grace of God and the abiding and comforting of the Holy Spirit. The fellowship and sympathy of the brethren has more than compensated your servant for all the things of this nature. I take this opportunity to speak my appreciation for your loyalty to the church, the conference and its officials. That you have been often compelled to grow in the grace of forbearance because of my many weaknesses, I am fully assured. For this I am deeply grateful and trust to profit by my observance of this grace in you. The work of the conference as a whole is on the up-grade. This is manifest more in the deepening of our spiritual tide than in numerical increase. To me, the increase of spiritual life and power is the most encouraging token that might come our way. Our pastors are men of piety and vision. The truth is preached in sincerity and the beauty of holiness is exalted in the pulpit and in their private lives. However, I am convinced that some of our pastors need to stir up the gift of pastoral calling and personal visitation that is latent within them. There are some points in the conference that would greatly profit by seeing more real aggressive pastoral work. In the opinion of your President, if the pastor cannot preach great sermons and be an aggressive personal worker among his people he may well afford to preach less scholarly sermons and find personal inspiration and material for his discourse in a prayerful and constant visitation among his people. I trust that this next year will see a great awakening among us, along this much needed line of work. There is in the bounds of our conference much needy missionary ground that should be occupied at once. This is especially true in our cities. Presently there is a call from a good residential district of Cincinnati for the organization of a Wesleyan church. I trust that we shall soon be able to fill that need.

My official actions have been few. In the month of December I received the resignation of Rev. Paul Marshall of Dayton and took personal charge of that work until a permanent pastor could be secured in early February. In the month of January I received Rev. Harold Falor and Rev. Irene Falor into the Conference as Annual Conference preachers on recommendation of their Quarterly Conference and appointed them to Belmont church, Dayton, under the direction of the Missionary Board. In January I also gave to Rev. R. C. Crossman a letter of standing.

Under the direction of the Board of Conference Trustees, I have sold the unused church buildings at Bellefontaine and at Findlay. The particulars of these transactions will appear in the report of the Board of Trustees to this body.

Submitted in the fear and service of the Lord,

A. W. SMITH.
